

GEORGIA - BELGIUM COUNTRY CONNECTION

Government and Commerce

The Consulate General of the Kingdom of Belgium in Atlanta is the official representation of the Belgian government to the southeastern United States. In addition to performing consular services, the office also promotes economic development, trade, investment, tourism, academic and cultural relationships between Belgium and the southeastern United States. Belgium first established a consular presence in Georgia in 1834. Michel Gerebtzoff has served as Consul General since August 2020.

Atlanta is home to two Belgian regional trade representatives. Conny Van Wulpen serves as Trade and Investment Commissioner at Flanders Investment and Trade and Djazia Filoso serves as Trade and Investment Representative at Wallonia Trade Office.

Georgia has two sister-city agreements with Belgium: Atlanta-Brussels and Dalton-Dilbeek.

The Belgian American Chamber of the South is located in Atlanta and actively supports, promotes and enhances business between Belgium and the Southeast U.S. Laura Van den Eynde serves as Executive Director.

The state of Georgia has had continuous representation in Europe since 1973. Since that time, the office has assisted hundreds of European firms with locating in Georgia and Georgia companies exporting to Europe.
